BALL AT GLENGALLAN.

On Wednesday evening last, John Deuchar, Esq, entertained a large party on the occasion of opening his new house, which is generally acknowledged to be the finest and best finished residence in the colony.

A great number of his friends, including the "elite" of the surrounding districts and Brisbane were invited. Dancing commenced at nine o'clock, and was kept up with great spirit until twelve o'clock, when the party adjourned to supper laid in the spacious balcony, which was rendered perfectly warm and comfortable by being enclosed with Venetian blinds.

The supper table, which was 100 feet in length, presented a most imposing appearance, and everything connected with it was managed in the well known hospitable manner of the worthy host and hostess. Before leaving the table, the health of the host was proposed by A. Wienholt, Esq., and responded to in a most warm-hearted manner by Mr. Deuchar. The health of the hostess and the ladies present was then proposed by the Hon.
